PROBE WITNESS IS ASSAILED BY PRISON CHIEF

THE CHURCHES INVITE YOU TO ATTEND UNUSUAL CIVIC STUNT PLANNED HERE

APPEARANCE WEEK TO DRAW INTEREST OF MANY SECTIONS

Preparation Virtually Completed for the Big Event

CARD IS ISSUED BY MERCHANTS

Careless Attitude of People Toward Dress Decided

Local merchants have virtually completed their preparations for "Pride in Appearance Week," a unique civic stunt, which will be observed here from April 14 to April 19.

The merchants intend to see whether or not it is possible for a community, just as an individual can, to shed the winter shoddiness and assume the more striking raiments of spring. They have worked out a plan for awarding prizes for the best dressed folks and during the week they have a number of other stunts, which will be announced during the next few days.

An especial invitation has been extended to all North Alabama residents to come here during this week of preparation and the next week of observation and participate in the many festivities which are planned for the latter date.

The merchants cooperating in the movement issued the following card today.

"The dictionary defines 'tottering' as 'an inclination to waver, as a person about to fall; to walk unsteadily.' Old men and women totter, an indication that the physical strength and agility is leaving them. But you often see men of middle age and even young men tottering in a different sense of the word, but tottering.

"When you see a man growing careless of his appearance, losing his personal pride, you can bank on it that he's faltering in his step toward the goal he set out to reach in this life. To neglect one's neatness and personal appearance almost invariably indicates a careless attitude toward life in general: toward friends; toward work, ambitions, everything worth while. That man has quit fighting, his former poise and confidence are tottering.

"And just as a careless attitude toward life cause a loss in personal pride so does a shabby, unkempt appearance breed lack of confidence and ambition. Take a 'down and outter' of the streets, a man whom the world has buffeted and kicked around. His clothes are ragged and dirty, his outlook on life is pretty blue. He admits defeat and surely looks the part.

"Some soap and water, a shave fresh linen and respectable clothes will make an entirely new man of him. He is ready to step out confidently, with a new point of view of life and everything it holds for all of us.

"No man can become so successful that he can afford to sacrifice his personal pride, to ignore the value of a neat appearance. Don't Totter."

Suspected Killer Wife Threatened

KOSCIUSKO, Miss., April 5—R. D. Threath, farmer under arrest in connection with the slaying of his wife whose body was found with her skull crushed in at the Threath farm house here several days ago, was hurriedly taken from this place under guard of deputy sheriffs, after which he is alleged to have made a statement which officers say was a confession to the killing.

Harry M. GREAT PRE-EASTER REVIVAL TO BEGIN AT CENTRAL METHODIST

The pre-Easter revival meeting of the Central Methodist church will begin in the auditorium of the church Sunday morning when the first of the series of sermons will be preached at 11 o'clock, by the pastor Dr. James D. Hunter and when the evangelistic singer for the series, Walter H. Makin of Birmingham, will sing a gospel solo and direct the large choir of singers.

It is expected that Mrs. Herman O. Troup, the organist of the church, will play the accompaniments for the hymns and special songs of the revival.

While the first of the meetings of the revival to which the general public has been cordially invited, is to be held Sunday morning as a matter of fact the Central Methodist revival has already been in progress for several weeks. Since the Sunday some weeks ago, when the congregation of this church signified its desire to enter into a religious campaign ending about Easter time, and when committees were named to handle the details of the meeting, the pastor, Dr. Hunter, having agreed to do the preaching for the series of meetings, the pre-Easter revival of the Central Methodist church has been in progress.

The outstanding service already rendered in the revival have been the numerous neighborhood prayer meetings held. In every locality where members of that church happen to be living, numerous gatherings have been held, in some instances quite largely attended, where the topic or concern on the minds and hearts of all has been the success of the workers of the Central Methodist church in their pledged efforts to get as many people as possible in sympathy with the aims and objects of the meeting which opens Sunday.

Walter H. Makin, than whom there is not a singer more widely or more acceptably known in Southern Methodism, arrives today and will begin his task of organizing and training the chorus choir which is to lead the large congregations confidently expected, in the soul stirring gospel hymns known and loved by Christian people everywhere.

Aside from Mr. Makin, only one other revival worker is expected, Mrs. Edith Hayes Meigs a graduate of the Searrit Training School, now located at Nashville, Mrs. Meigs will have charge of the meetings for employed women, and also the meetings for the young people during the revival.

Mr. Makin and Mrs. Meigs will arrive on Louisville and Nashville train at three o'clock this afternoon. They will be met at the Albany station by a large delegation of members of the Central Methodist church.

Grand Jury May Report Saturday

With the report of the Morgan County grand jury due to be submitted to Judge James E. Horton late Saturday, many are full of expectancy. Interest was aroused in the final report of the grand jury, it had reported 51 cases on Friday, from the fact that late Friday the grand jury appeared before Judge Horton and he gave the jury additional charges.

The jury was in session up until noon, and adjourned to meet again in the afternoon.

Late Friday afternoon Sheriff C. E. Poole, served a number of subpoenas and all the morning Saturday streams of people were going in and out of the grand jury room.

EARTHQUAKE FELT IN ENGLISH AREA

(Associated Press)

LONDON, April 5—Severe earthquake shocks occurred last night in the Derbyshire coal field and in the neighborhood of Alfreton. Shocks were first noticed about 11 o'clock and were violent, much more violent than those experienced early in March when the earth disturbances first were noticed.

Apparently little damage was done although the shaking of the strata in the colliery workings has caused some anxiety.

DETOUR ROADS NOT TO BE CONSTRUCTED IN CULLMAN COUNTY

Building Program Will Include Completion of Bee Line Route

ROGERS LETTERS RECEIVED HERE

Kiwanis Is Informed of Future Plans of Commission

No detour roads are to be built in Cullman County, nor has there been any prospect thereof, stated John A. Rogers, chairman of the Alabama highway commission in a letter to Marvin Rankin, secretary of the Morgan Kiwanis Club.

Mr. Rogers wrote the letter in question apropos of reports current to the effect that plans were being made to use money claimed by Bee Line Highway supporters, for exclusive use on the Bee Line state highway that leads south from Nashville, through Albany and Decatur, through Cullman to Birmingham, for the construction of "lateral roads in Cullman County."

Mr. Rogers told Kiwanians that the 1924-25 road program for Cullman county embraces one road way, from Cullman to Garden City a distance of 17 miles, and that the probate judge of Cullman County was notified by Mr. Rogers some time ago that no change would be made.

One of the civic organizations of the Twin Cities in a resolution had protested to the state highway commission against lateral roads being built along the Bee Line highway, if they interfered with the completion of that road way, at the earliest possible moment.

TWO ARE ADDED TO "Y" DIRECTORATE

At a meeting of the board of management of the local Railroad Y. M. C. A. held Friday night, in addition to the members of the board of directors now serving the following were elected: Carl D. Patterson, and James H. Johnson.

Announcement was made that plans for the proposed new auditorium and gymnasium were already approved, and that it was the purpose of the Association authorities to begin work on the building at no distant date.

An interesting address was made to the directors in connection with his announcement of the Y. M. C. A. state convention to be held soon in Montgomery, by C. K. Ober, International Secretary Emeritus of the Y. M. C. A. It is Mr. Ober's idea, that one compelling motive in attempting Christian work, was that such work was a direct aid to God in accomplishing His purposes.

Remodeling Plans for Club Drawn

During next week plans for remodeling the old club house of the Valley Country Club, as now being made by the Harry J. Frahn company of Nashville, will be presented to the board of governors of the club, stated Charles Rountree, president of the club, on Saturday. The greens, on the new golf course now under construction, are now being sodded, and next week, if the ground is dry enough, the fairways will be sown with grass seed. 1925 convention.

REVISED CODE MAY BE ADOPTED BY THE ALBANY ALDERMEN

Committee Is Named to Look Into Question for the Council

TUSCALOOSA DOG LAW IS REJECTED

Repair of the City Hall Under Consideration By the Board

Its supporters claiming that as at present arranged the Albany city code of laws does not admit of convictions in some instances, where convictions manifestly should be had, an effort was made at the meeting of the Albany council Friday night, to have the laws of the city revised and a new code made. The request was referred to Mayor Britain, City Attorney Melvin Hutson and A. J. Jolly, chairman of the finance committee.

The council declined to adopt the so-called "Tuscaloosa dog ordinance" which if it had been agreed to would require the inoculation of dogs and other similar attentions for the prevention of hydrophobia. It was argued that the city would be liable to law suits in case dogs died that had been forced to take medical treatment.

The regular Albany ordinance requiring that all dogs wear muzzles is to be rigidly enforced.

One fireman, in the person of John Cobb, was added to the regular force. Mr. Cobb has been acting as supply.

The public property committee was asked to look into the advisability of repairing the city hall building and reconditioning the council hall. It was directed as a protection to all street work that where gas or water pipes were to be placed, the city council must be consulted before the streets can be taken up.

Eighth avenue to Seventh street, South is to have a new cinder covering at once. The sanitary sewer between Johnston and Grant streets at Tenth avenue is to be enlarged so as to carry off rain water more rapidly. The proposal of the power company as to white way lights on Second avenue, was not accepted; it being stated that merchants on adjoining streets would object to such a plan at present.

CHEAPER RADIO IS EXEMPT FROM TAX

(Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, April 5—All radio selling for less than $50 wholesale was exempted from the proposed 10 per cent tax by the senate finance committee today in winding up its consideration of the revenue bill.

The committee also agreed to exempt any articles selling for $25 or less from the jewelry tax of five per cent, instead of articles selling for less than $40, as voted by the house. Watches selling for less than $60 are exempt from the tax as passed by the house.

Previous agreement to change the brackets to which the estate tax rates would apply was set aside and the present rate of the estate tax restored to the bill. The house had increased these present rate to a maximum of 40 per cent over the present 25 per cent and this was opposed by Secretary Mellon.

COAST GUARD'S DRY NAVY NEARLY READY

(Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, April 5—The final units of the coast guard's new prohibition navy probably will be ready to put to sea within a few weeks.

With an additional $18,000,000 available under a recent congressional appropriation, coast guard officials have drawn up detailed plans for the acquisition of some 300 large and small vessels equipped to chase rum runners away from American shores.

The nucleus of the force will be 20 destroyers, which congress authorized the coast guard to purchase from the navy. The present intention is to select 20 ships from the destroyer squadron now lying out of commission at Philadelphia.

Coast guard officials have inspected these ships and are drawing up specifications for their reconditioning.

COUNTER CHARGES LAUNCHED AGAINST EX-WARDEN DYCHE

Declares Politics Was Behind Move to Stop Drug Sale

USE OF TROOPS DENIED BY WEEKS

Hard to Bring an End to Smuggling, States Deputy Warden

(Associated Press)

ATLANTA, Ga., April 5—Counter charges that J. E. Dyche, former warden of the Atlanta penitentiary, had instituted a secret investigation of alleged trafficking in narcotics within the prison, to further his efforts to replace his political followers on the penitentiary staff, were made here last night by Chief Deputy Warden L. J. Fletcher.

He was replying to testimony given yesterday by Dyche to the senate Daugherty investigating committee to the effect that narcotics now are being sold to inmates of the penitentiary.

Dyche, a man without previous prison experience, was appointed to the post for his activities in the campaign of the late Jake Hamon republican national committeeman from Oklahoma, Fletcher charged.

Soon after he assumed office, Fletcher, a penitentiary official for 22 years, was transferred here from Leavenworth, Kansas.

By the secret inquiry which he conducted with the aid of agents furnished by William J. Burns, head of the bureau of investigation, Dyche plotted to wipe out the prison civil service system, Fletcher charged, in order that he might place men of his own selection in penitentiary offices.

While the Burns under-cover men were carrying on their work, Fletcher asserted, Dyche wired the war department for troops, but his request was refused by Secretary Weeks. The deputy warden alleged that Dyche planned to arrest nearly every guard at the prison so that he could substitute his own men, but that the denial of application for federal troops prevented him.

Soon after working up evidence against several men at the prison, the secret men left the prison and failed to appear as witnesses for the government at the trial. Jake Labin, star witness in the celebrated murder trial of Lieutenant Becker, at New York city, and now serving a 12 year term for receiving stolen property from the mails, was the investigator's principal informant in the narcotic inquiry, the deputy warden declared.

The deputy warden admitted that virtually it was impossible to prevent the smuggling of the narcotics, pointing out fully 800 of the 2,300 inmates of the penitentiary, are drug addicts. In the midst of a bitter personal attack on the former warden, however, he asserted that "there is not as much traffic in drugs now as during Dyche's administration."

MY HUSBAND'S LOVE

Adele Garrison's New Phase of

Revelations of a Wife

Why Madge Resolutely Played a Part.

THE outer door of the apartment house swung to behind the girl whom I believed to be Mollie Pawcett, and for the space of a second or two I stood motionless, clutching with nervous fingers at the panel in the big circular window of the staircase-well through which I had been peering. Then the door into our apartment hall opened, and coming to the side of the log in the hall I saw Dicky pushing open our living-room door.

I waited only until it had closed behind him before snapping shut the catch of the window and running noiselessly down the hall to our bathroom door.

I swung it open and closed it emphatically, and then entered the bedroom leisurely, with no attempt to make my entrance a silent one. Dicky was standing in the doorway between the living-room and the bedroom, and to my excited eyes the expression of his face spelled furtive and dismayed query.

"What's the matter?" he asked quickly. "I looked in to see if you were asleep, and found you weren't here."

"I have a headache," I returned, "and I couldn't find the headache tablets anywhere."

An odd look flashed into Dicky's eyes. "Why, they're in the medicine closet in the bathroom!" he said. "They're in plain sight. I saw them there to-day."

Dicky Proves His Point. "Well, they weren't there when I looked," I replied obstinately—and with the letter of truth, for the last time I had looked into the medicine cabinet, several days before, there had been no tablets there. "I'll prove it to you. Come on."

I flashed a furtive glance at Dicky and thought I detected a lessening of the very real apprehension in his face. But I felt his studying, puzzled eyes upon the back of my head as I proceeded into the bathroom and swung open the medicine cabinet.

"There!" he said triumphantly, "I told you so. You were sure you had a headache, weren't you?"

HOME-MAKING HELPS

How You Can Make a Large or Small Kitchen Efficient

By WANDA BARTON

IT REQUIRES as much system and knowledge to work in a very small as in a very large kitchen. In the former, all things should be centralized within reaching distance. In the latter, they should be so arranged as to save steps and unnecessary labor. This requires an efficient understanding of housework, the best methods of doing it and the value of the time needed for its accomplishment.

Perhaps the most perfect example of the small kitchen is that on the big railroad dining-cars, where the tiny kitchen has its cold and hot side, and where three or four workers must learn to do their work expeditiously without getting in each other's way or losing their tempers, feeding dozens of people in record time.

The housewife is never pushed to quite this extremity of small space, yet many of the ideas made use of in dining-car kitchens can be utilized also in a small home kitchen. For instance, everything is under cover, the place where it is likely to be needed. All things used about the stove are racked beside and above it within easy reach. Dishes for serving are piled on a low shelf in graduated sizes. Napkins and serving platters are arranged in the same way, which economizes space in a wonderful way. Other dishes, including cups and saucers, are arranged in the same manner.

On the refrigerator or cold side, all salads, cold cuts and so on are prepared. The ice-box is there and all foods are stored there that must be kept cold. On top are bread boxes, cake closets and jars and similar food. On the hot side are the ranges and broiler, seasoning shelves and reserve cooked foods, fats for frying and everything for the heavy part of the meals. In front of the range is a rubber runner, which prevents workers from slipping when moving about hastily. It also saves jarring and is restful to stand on.

Now if the owner of the small kitchen would follow out some of these ideas in compact arrangement, her work would be more quickly and efficiently done than it is with things piled and mixed up so that much must be moved to get at what is wanted.

Low shelves make work easy and drawers under them hold things needed in serving. Racks hold covers and cooking utensils so that they may be quickly gotten at. The under-and-over idea is worth using in storing necessary utensils.

A well-built window refrigerator box, zinc lined, is a handy thing the year around and a great relief for the small refrigerator space. Ventilation should be from the upper side, anyway.

reaching a hand over my shoulder and taking out a bottle of the tablets. "What do you call these?" I found myself trembling with the primitive longing to dash the bottle from his hand and turn on him with the jealous maddening suspicions that were racking me. But from somewhere I summoned the courage to utter a banal:

"Well, what do you know about that? My headache must have made me blind."

I turned away toward the door, but Dicky's voice, with a note of surprise in it, stopped me. "Aren't you going to take one now you've found them?"

"You Had a Caller." "Now I had no aching head, although I could not assure the same thing of my heart, but I turned to the washstand abruptly, and turning on the cold water held out my hand for the bottle.

"I must be getting woozy," I commented, and taking out a tablet, swallowed it demurely, and turned toward the door. Dicky put his hand under my arm, and made a perfectly unconscious survey.

"Sure you're all right, not dizzy or anything?" My hand shook with the insane impulse to strike him, but my voice was cool and tranquil.

"No, thank you, Dicky. I'm perfectly all right, or shall be when I've rested awhile longer."

"When do you expect old Lil will show up?" he asked as he walked beside me into the bedroom, and stopped to remove my slippers.

The incongruity of his tender courtesy and the fact that within a few minutes he had had a suspicious interview in the hall with beautiful Mollie Pawcett was so puzzling and so maddening that my lips were stiff as I answered him: "I haven't the slightest idea. Not until late."

"You'll have a chance to sleep then, I hope, before she comes. Oh, by the way! You had a caller while you were asleep."

I summoned a simulated eager curiosity in the face I turned toward him. "Who?" I asked. "So few people know we are here."

"The ubiquitous and effervescent Mrs. Marks," he returned, with a distinct sneer in his voice. "She was overjoyed to know you were back. And she wished to know if she couldn't do nothing for you."

I sat back, from her general conversation, she has gone to order a jazz band to welcome you home."

IT'S difficult sometimes to remember that May flowers are the gifts of April showers—there's so much of gloom in a drizzly day. But one who walks with The One, beneath the same umbrella, realizes the compensation that is his. If it were not raining would he be allowed to walk so close to her? "Isn't there something," his heart asks, "in the symbolism of the one roof for two, even in this old umbrella?" Ah, indeed, there is a silver lining even to an umbrella—as well as to many a cloud overhead—on even the rainiest of days!

WINIFRED BLACK WRITES "Grandmother Lilac"

Copyright, 1924, by Winifred Black. All Rights Reserved.

THE little girl in the Pullman car was restless, very restless indeed.

She looked out of the window a minute and then she yawned and then she stuck out her little fat feet straight ahead of her and wiggled them, and then she held out her stubby little hands and wiggled them.

Then she stood up on the seat and giggled, then she picked up a paper and shook her head and pretended to read.

Then she took her doll and sat the doll on the window sill and told her she ought to be ashamed of herself for being so fussy.

Then she put her own hat on the doll's head—and laughed and then she yawned and looked out of the window again and then she began to jiggle the seat once more.

Her mother was tired and just the least bit in the world cross. But the woman across the aisle was not tired and she didn't look as if she'd ever been cross in her life. She stepped over and invited the little girl to come and visit her in her section.

And it wasn't five minutes before the restless little girl was sitting very still in the lap of the woman from across the aisle and the woman from across the aisle was telling a story.

Rather a nice little story it was, it seemed to me.

Will She Remember?

This is how it ran: "Once there was a little girl and she had curly hair and blue eyes and a round chubby face, with cheeks like roses and a little mouth exactly like a cherry, and she lived in a little white house with green blinds and a green roof and a green door. Oh, such interesting people went in and out the green door—teachers and preachers and pretty girls and nice boys and grandmas with cookies in their bags and grandpas with silver dimes in their pockets—oh, all sorts of people! But the little girl with the rosy cheeks liked the outdoors best. It was rather a nice day outdoors, with roses and hollyhocks and little spicy garden pinks, and when the sun shone on them, they smelt just as sweet—you can't think."

The restless little girl wrinkled up her button of a nose and smelled the spicy pinks with the sun hot on them—yes, she did, right there in the Pullman car with not a garden or a pink in sight. "But best of all," said the woman who was telling the story, "the little girl loved the lilac tree. 'Grandmother Lilac,' she called it, and you couldn't blame her for loving 'Grandmother Lilac'—not when you saw what a lovely tree it was, all glistening with smooth, green leaves shaped almost like little hearts and hung with great clusters of purple flowers."

"The bees loved the purple lilac—b-z-z b-z-z," they said, "here's plenty of honey." And the birds loved it, too, and two of them built their nest there, and it was green and cool in the shade under the lilac tree, and the little girl used to sit there on the green grass and lean against the lilac tree and sing to herself and make lilac chains

ODD and INTERESTING FACTS

Romantic and quaint, every room of absorbing interest in its rare and authentic antiques, from the room Lafayette slept in and the nursery with its odd old dolls and Windsor cradle bench to the hall housing the military table of old General Smith, aide-de-camp of Sullivan, Steuben and Washington successively, and Secretary of the Legation in London to John Adams, whose only daughter he married. and when the sun was nice and warm and the little wind that loves children came and sang to the trees, the little girl said, 'Grandmother Lilac, I'm sleepy, I guess I'll curl down in your lap and take a nap,' and the wind sang and the sun shone and the bees buzzed, and the little girl smelled the lilacs—

"Best of All—"

Slower and slower went the story, lower and lower fell the voice—"and she smelled the spicy pinks and she shut her eyes and she shut her eyes—"

And the restless little girl was fast asleep. I wonder if she will remember that story about "Grandmother Lilac" when she grows up and tell it to her own little girl when her own little girl is restless. And if she does, will she think kindly of the woman who told it to her when she was little and tired and cross and wanted to go to sleep—and wouldn't?

Diary of a Fashion Model

By GRACE THORNCLIFFE

She Chats About an Especially Lovely Tea-Gown.

"I FEEL quite in the mood to design something soft and filmy and very feminine."

Madame remarked as she sent me to get her pad and pencil. "It's just as well that I do," she added, when I returned with them. "For Miss Lookett wants me to do her a tea-gown."

"She has such a lovely, slender figure that I should think she'd be an inspiration," I observed.

"She is," Madame agreed. "What color is it to be?" I asked. "I have done her several that combined lovely pastel tints," Madame answered. "I'm thinking of changing to something different."

I waited while she seemed to gaze far away out of the window and across the street.

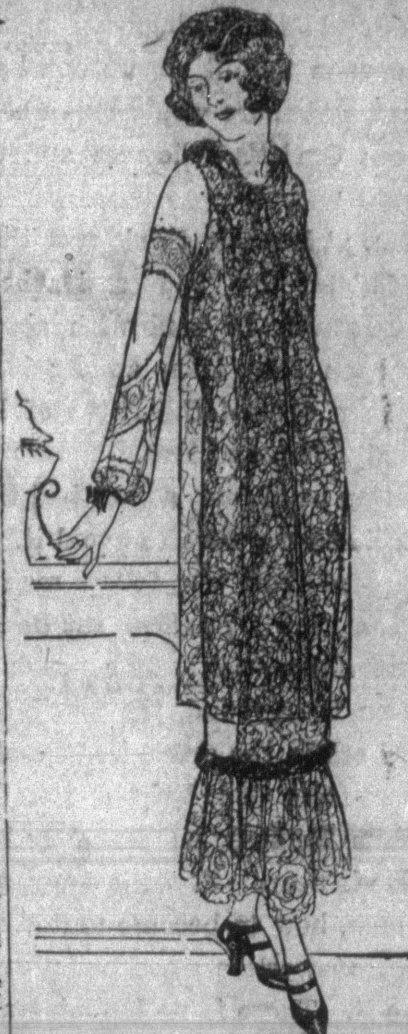

"She's seeing all kinds of lovely colors," I thought to myself. I've seen Madame in creative moods before, and the outcome is always something lovely.

"Her golden-brown hair is lovely with almost any color," she said softly, half to herself.

"It will be taupe color," she added, in a louder, more decided tone. "She made a few idle strokes with her pencil, and then sketched very quickly with the same decision that her tone implied."

I was fairly dying to peep over her shoulder, but decided I'd wait. I couldn't bear to interrupt genius. "What do you think of this?" she asked a few moments later, tossing a sketch in my direction.

I caught it, feeling quite flattered that she asked my opinion. "I looked at the sketch. 'I suppose I should find something wrong,' I said with a smile. 'But I can't. Then I'll explain it to you, and I think you'll like the idea even better.' Madame said, 'Come here.' The plain almost-fitted underslip is of taupe chiffon," she told me. "It's sleeveless, and made with a double panel of lace down the front and finished with a flounce of lace at the bottom. The lace must be dyed to match the chiffon."

"Oh, it can afford to be nothing less than sable," Madame replied. "For such a lovely garment I think you're right," I approved. "The overslip is nothing more nor

What to Do to Remedy Baby "Summer Complaint"

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.

United States Senator from New York.

Former Commissioner of Health, New York City.

BABIES are always delicate little beings. They are affected by all sorts of things. Changes in the weather, change of clothing and of the diet may cause some disturbance of the stomach and intestines.

As the warm weather approaches, there are things to guard against. One of the most common ailments among young babies, especially bottle-fed infants, is diarrhea.

This disease is characterized by too frequent stools. There may be anywhere from four to twenty stools in the twenty-four hours.

The stools of diarrhea present a very different appearance from the normal ones. They may be greenish, yellowish green, clay colored, black or brown in color. In some instances the stools are streaked with mucus and blood. They may be odorless or may be very offensive.

In every case of diarrhea the doctor should be called immediately. The mother is safe in beginning the treatment by giving castor oil, the size of the dose depending on the age of the child. All food should be stopped except whey or barley water.

Rest is essential in every case. The child should be kept in bed. Keep the baby warm. It is most important to keep the abdomen, arms and legs covered. Exposure not only prolongs the attacks but lessens the child's resistance. As a result of this the disease is prolonged and it may result in recurrence of the attacks.

The mother must not disregard the appearance of diarrhea in a child, because it is more fatal than measles, scarlet fever and whooping cough combined. The vital statistics of any city will show this.

It won't be long now before warm weather will be with us. This means that extra precautions must be taken in guarding the milk against contamination.

Remember, dear mother, that the baby needs lots of fresh air and so do you. Get out into the open air as much as possible. Even on cool days, wrap the baby warmly and get out all you can.

The depressing effects of bad ventilation cannot be overlooked. Fear of drafts and of fresh air has lowered the vitality of many a baby and left it ready for diarrheal attacks.

"A stitch in time saves nine," is true in the care of babies as it is in the care of the clothing. Do all the sensible things which make for good health, and you will be saved the worry and labor of caring for a sick baby.

Advice to Girls

By ANNIE LAURIE

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE: I am a girl of seventeen and am deeply in love with a man who is a year older than I. He insists that I marry him. However, I have so far refused and think that I should have the advice of elders before committing myself.

Do you think that I should run away and marry this man or wait until he gets my parents' consent? LONESOME CHARLIE.

LONESOME CHARLIE: You are entirely too young to think of marriage. Your wisest course is to tell your parents the entire story and be guided by their advice.

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE: I would like to know whether a young lady should speak first to a young man on passing in the street or anywhere else on meeting him.

2.—On entering a room where you are acquainted, should the people in the room speak first or should the one that has just come in, speak first? M. H. H. Z.

M. H. H. Z.: 1.—The young lady speaks first.

2.—The hostess should greet her guest, after which the guest should mingle with and speak to those in the room.

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE: I am a girl in my teens. 1.—Should a girl let a young man kiss her around her at a picture theatre?

2.—What should a girl say to a young man when it is time for him to go home?

3.—When a young man takes her home from a theatre or party, what should she say to him? M. D.

M. D.: 1.—No. Such liberties should not be permitted.

2.—She should suggest the time to him and say she is not allowed to have company after that certain hour, usually ten o'clock.

3.—Tell him she enjoyed the evening and thank him in a nice way.

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE: We are two girls sixteen. 1.—Is it proper for girls our age to go to dances once a week?

2.—Is it proper for a young man to kiss a girl to whom he is not engaged?

3.—What should a girl tell a young man when she does not wish to dance?

4.—After a dance should a young man take the girl to her seat? BLONDE & BRUNETTE.

BLONDE & BRUNETTE: 1.—If your parents approve, yes.

2.—No, it is not permissible.

3.—"Thank you. This dance is engaged." or "Thank you. I do not care to dance," whichever the case may be.

4.—Certainly.

Annie Laurie will welcome letters of inquiry on subjects of feminine interest from young women readers of this paper and will reply to them in these columns. Letters to Miss Laurie should be addressed to her in care of this office.

The tap root of evil seems to be the love of oil money.

The earlier evil is declined, the later begin life's declines.

The spring weather man seems to be attempting a belated April fool.

Winter is up to one of his old disgraceful tricks—that of sitting on the lap of Spring.

If the present time were early in May, all would be saying "blackberry winter" was upon us.

If G. C. Bergdoll should be punished according to compound interest rules, unless he hurries to America, he will never get out of prison.

"I have not received any definite offer to return to America," said G. C. Bergdoll. A cell in prison is hereby offered him.

If it had not been for Henry Ford and Col. J. W. Worthington, the Muscle Shoals would have been fit only to throw worn out safety razor blades into. In other words, subscribe some money for the Tennessee River Improvement Association.

OBJECTORS NOT NECESSARILY FAULT FINDERS

Just as clothes, tools and vehicles wear and have to be mended or replaced, human relations must ever be readjusted and often times made new out and out. The machinery of society gets out of fix. It does often need to be repaired. Despite the recognized need of constant betterment those who would seek to improve things are generally regarded as mere fault finders. Those who see objections to this or that course are looked upon as crabbed, disagreeable and often times unworthy.

Often such a vision of those who see where changes should be made is the same in kind that causes school children to draw pictures of "teacher," and to consider him a kind of natural enemy.

It would be as untrustworthy to ridicule a man who seeks to mend a watch or to repair a threshing machine for so doing, as it would to raise objections to those who would mend and improve general living conditions.

To correct an abuse does not mean that those who seek to correct it have a personal grudge or ill feeling toward those held responsible for the abuse.

In many, if not in most cases, those who seek the public good have a real regard and affection for the people generally, and so they feel they cannot stand by and see questionable practices indulged in.

If the public was never advised to do anything the public did not wish to do, there would never be any friction between "reformers" and those they seek to reform, but for some reason people generally must often be advised to do very differently from what they wish, if their best interests are to be served.

A community or a person too proud or too full of a wrong self-esteem to be told when in the wrong, can only go in a circle—no real progress can be made.

It is said that "even beyond laziness, a foolish hypersensitiveness is the chief obstacle to improvement."

There are many too anxious for betterment to worry about the effect of correction on their feelings.

And there are many who know the most patriotic citizens are critical not for the sake of finding fault, but in order to improve conditions.

NORTH ALABAMA ROADS

One of the many evidences of progressive spirit and community enterprise which have been notable in the Tennessee Valley with increasingly productive results for years is the recent determined public sentiment and active efforts for improved highways. Nature has favored that section with many advantages. Opportunities for constructive development and larger prosperity are numerous and varied. With the practical utilization of the great Muscle Shoals properties and powers, the whole Tennessee Valley will bloom as a region of enterprise, plenty and contentment.

The citizens of that section are making a wise decision and manifesting a commendable spirit in organizing and working for public highways as one of the most potent agencies in moral, intellectual and material development. They are planning better roads all through that section, especially adequate communication through the Muscle Shoals district. There is good reason to believe that Henry Ford and his associates will be operating the Muscle Shoals properties at no distant day. Mr. Ford's industrial genius and remarkable record for development are assurance that under his plans Muscle Shoals will be one of the nation's important industrial centers.

But whether Mr. Ford gets Muscle Shoals or not, it is going to be operated and developed as a great productive enterprise. The citizens of the Tennessee Valley realize this, and they are already taking steps to connect with the big industrial center through a system of roads that will provide benefits which would otherwise be lost. It is an evidence that the Tennessee Valley unmistakably realizes what adequate highways mean in the practical development of a section rich in resources and well-high unlimited in opportunities.—Age-Herald.

For the Sabbath and Other Days
A Train Of Thoughts

By J. E. Blair

"Behold how good and how pleasant it is for brethren to dwell together in unity." On the other hand, separation means just the opposite of goodness and pleasantness. Separation means unpleasantness and badness. Not the separation meant by the word "parting," for "the best of friends must part, but that separation thought of when we speak of "separation from God," such separations, in a word, as are caused by Sin. They are the hurtful, damning separations.

A sin separation is recorded in the Sunday school lesson now before us—when wrong, injustice and Godliness separated the Israelitish hosts, that had been dwelling together in unity since the time they passed the Red Sea under great Moses and before.

Sin caused the disruption of the Twelve Tribes, and they have been scattered upon the face of the earth from that day to the present time.

Both Bishop W. A. Candler and William T. Ellis say the separation of Israel was permanent, when bold, bad, able Jeroboam, and weak, overbearing and cruel Rheoboam ruled in opposition to each other. It might do to say that an eternal separation was effected in the once united nation of Israel split over real and imaginary wrongs. It is quite possible we were taught correctly when as children our elders said there would be an eternal separation between Christ's followers and those who hinder Him.

It is a good idea, at least, to think over the old doctrine of a "hell" for the "bad" and a heaven for the "good." It may be said with absolute truth there has been separation among human beings ever since sin opened the gates of Eden and closed them on Adam and Eve.

Granted separation is, in fact, a very bad thing, the next question is, how are we to avoid it.

If we are separated from our fellow men and our Maker, how can such a predicament be remedied? By way of illustration: If a peach tree was separated from the ground, the thing to do would be to set it back in the ground. Therefore, if we are separated from God, the thing to do is to "seek Him" while He may be found and call upon Him while He is near." If we are separated from our fellow men, how to become united with them is an almost answerless question, provided they do not desire it. There is no human way to gain such a unity, but "with God all things are possible." He can and will show a way to dwell together in unity with everybody—although we may not agree with everybody—and the way God will show is "the way of the Cross." Those who pass near the Cross together cannot be separated in this life nor in the life to come.

MODERN DANCE IS SCORED BY EVANGELIST GID HIGGINBOTHAM

Rev. Gid Higginbotham preached not deceived; God is not mocked; for whatever a man soweth that shall he also reap." Rev. Higginbotham said that sin began in the Garden of Eden, and that that devil had come as angel of light, had set his decoys in the attractive ways, and had misled millions. "The devil has brought his decoys into our churches." At several times during his sermon he declared card playing was another decoy, and one that had carried him to the low pits of disgrace, and was today so treacherous to homes and young people. He pleaded that every home would destroy their cards, "discontinue gambling in the homes, under name of good society," and "for the sake of the Lord and the young people to worship God". His story of the evils of the modern dance was startling. "Stop hugging in the dance and you will stop the dance. If it is right to hug in public, then its right to hug in private but if your wife dances in the close embrace of another tonight, and tomorrow you go home and find her so embraced, you will want to kill that man. To me one is just as right as the other. Hear the stories of the broken hearted mothers, and you will believe it too. Dancing has carried to ruin, millions of our boys and girls, and I don't want my boy and girl, nor your boy and girl to be so deceived and misled. Let Jesus be your pilot. He is the only safe way."

BILL FINISHED

(Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, April 5—Finishing touches were put on the revenue bill by the senate finance committee and its report to the senate by Monday or Tuesday was promised by Chairman Smoot.

Salvation is by Faith.

Faith Without Works is Dead.

MAKE UP YOUR MIND, BROTHER, THAT THE DAY OF JUDGMENT IS COMING, AND BELIEVE IT OR NOT, YOU WILL BE CALLED UPON TO RENDER AN ACCOUNT OF YOUR STEWARDSHIP UPON THIS EARTH. WHAT HAVE YOU DONE? VITAL IS THE SUPPORT DUE YOUR PASTOR—AND, TAKE IT FROM ME, YOUR ROUTE TO SALVATION IS THROUGH HIM. YOU MUST GIVE AND DO AND WORK SO THAT SPIRITUALLY YOU MAY ATTAIN THE END ALL GOOD MEN SEEK. SUPPORT HIM FREELY AND CHEERFULLY. THAT IS YOUR SOLEMN AND BOUNDEN DUTY.

FROM THE ANALOGY TO THE SPIRITUAL WE COME TO THE NECESSITY FOR ONE PHASE OF OUR EARTHLY EXISTENCE AND OUR DUTY COMMERCIAL, INDUSTRIALLY AND AS GOOD CITIZENS ONE TO THE OTHER, TO THE TOWN, TO THE STATE, AND TO THE NATION.

AND, AT THIS VERY MOMENT, THE ONE AND ONLY SURE ROUTE OF PROMOTING THE CIVIC WELFARE OF THIS COMMUNITY IS THROUGH THE CHAMBER OF COMMERCE.

MEN, INDIVIDUALLY OR COLLECTIVELY, MUST DIG IN OR DIG OUT. IN THE VERY BEGINNING ADAM WAS TAUGHT THAT HE MUST THINK AND SWEAT, OR GO WITHOUT MANNA. THE LAW ESTABLISHED THEN, AND IT HOLDS GOOD NOW, IS THAT EITHER YOU GET BUSY, OR FEED ON MULBERRIES AND SLEEP IN THE SWAMP.

FRANKLY, YOU OWE IT TO YOURSELF AND TO YOUR TOWN, TO SUPPORT BOTH MORALLY AND FINANCIALLY, YOUR CHAMBER OF COMMERCE. DON'T ONLY THINK—BUT DO!

SOME FELLOWS STICK GOOD PLANS AND GOOD INTENTIONS ON A SPINDLE AND EXPECT OF THIS EFFORT—SUCCESS. WE SEEM ALL TO BE HALF BROTHERS TO THE BIG HUMAN HANDICAP—DELAY.

PUTTING OFF THINGS IS A COMMON FAULT AND FOR THIS VERY REASON THE FAULT IS NOT RECOGNIZED AS A SERIOUS PRACTICE. FEW MEN DO THINGS WHEN THEY SHOULD BE DONE. THEY MAKE A "MEMO" AND A "MEMO" IS BUT A PENDING REMINDER—AND A PENDING REMINDER IS A MORTUARY—A MORGUE—A TEMPORARY BURYING PLACE—A RESTING GROUND.

DUST-COVERED DUTIES SOON OUT-LAW. LONG PROMISES ARE LONG FORGOTTEN! THE HABIT OF DELAY IS A DISEASE. SOME FELLOWS WOULD EVEN PUT OFF THEIR FUNERALS IF THEY ONLY COULD.

LET'S BE GO-GETTERS. QUIT PROCRASTINATING. DO NOW. PROCRASTINATION IS A THIEF OF TIME.

WHAT RED-BLOODED CHAP WANTS TO OWN STOCK IN THE FIRM OF DELAY, LINGER & WAIT?

THERE IS NO USE IN CARRYING AROUND A COUPLE OF HUNDRED POUNDS OF PURPOSE UNLESS WE THINK OF IT FREQUENTLY AND ACT AND DO. PURPOSE CAN GO TO SLEEP MIGHTY SOON.

HAVING A PURPOSE, GO TO IT, AND CARRY IT OUT, AND FOR THE LOVE OF PETE, DON'T LET DOUBT, APATHY, OR PREJUDICE BENUMB YOUR GOOD INTENTIONS—ON THE CONTRARY, THROW AWAY ALL OF THE STUFF WHICH MIGHT PARALYZE YOUR "PURPOSE."

IN THE PROMOTION OF YOUR CHAMBER OF COMMERCE, DON'T FORGET THAT TWO-THIRDS IS IN "MOTION."

BY FORETHOUGHT AND BY DESTINY, THIS COMMUNITY CAN BE MADE THE ACKNOWLEDGED "GATEWAY TO NORTHERN ALABAMA."

BIG THINGS ARE KNOCKING AT OUR VERY DOOR—BUT, TO GET THEM WE MUST BE UP AND DOING. IT WILL REQUIRE THE CO-OPERATION OF EVERY MAN, WOMAN AND CHILD WHO CLAIMS THIS AS THEIR HOME.

THE ONLY PEOPLE WHO DO THINGS ARE THOSE WHO DARE. SAFETY CAN BE SECURED BY DOING NOTHING, SAYING NOTHING AND BEING NOTHING. HERE'S TO THOSE WHO DARE! HERE'S TO YOU!

THIS IS YOUR INVITATION TO CO-OPERATE AND TO JOIN WITH THE CHAMBER OF COMMERCE TO MAKE THIS THE DAWN OF ANOTHER DAY. DON'T FORGET YOUR CHURCH, AND MAKE SURE, BROTHER, THAT THE APPEAL OF YOUR CHAMBER OF COMMERCE DOES NOT GO UNHEEDED—YOUR COMMERCIAL SALVATION IS AT STAKE.

LET'S GO.

BLUEJACKETS ON CRUISES

LOS ANGELES—When the battle fleet sailed from San Pedro, Cal., last January for joint maneuvers with the scouting and special service fleets in the Caribbean, it took along a four months supply of motion picture films including the latest releases, many of which then were appearing in the large cities.

Before leaving San Pedro each ship was given 12 complete shows for the trip by the fleet movie exchange of films, who distributes his films from the flagship Procyon. At regular intervals during a cruise the exchange collects and redistributes the pictures. The navy department established its own film exchange some time ago. There are now complete exchanges, four on the Pacific Coast, one each in Manila and Honolulu and one floating exchange which accompanies the fleet on voyages.

The exchange officer supplies a vessel with enough films for a show a day.

Diamond Market Picking Up.
LONDON—The first few weeks of any year are always good for the precious stone merchants, as traders generally replace their stocks which have been depleted by the Christmas and New Year trade.

This year there is said to have been a greater demand than ever for diamonds and other valuable stones, and last week $1,250,000 worth of "rough" stones were sold, the bulk going into the hands of American cutters. The biggest demand is for cheap and medium-grade diamonds but much money is being put into pearl ropes and necklaces, on which a big price being sold last week for $200,000.

COUNT FANS TO SEE JOKE
PRISONERS GET FIVE YEARS

VERSAILLES—There was a difference of opinion between court and prisoners as to the merits of a joke when Prosper Charles and Gaston Nouvain were arraigned on a charge of stealing two valuable Gobelin tapestries from the Chateau of the kings. The court's opinion prevailed and the men were sentenced to jail for five years.

The prisoners defense was that their theft was "just a little joke." They said they knew they could sell the tapestries and that they merely wanted to show that art treasures worth 1,500,000 francs were poorly protected against theft.

"You certainly succeeded," said the court, "but you caused the tapestries great damage, the bill for cleaning them alone amounting to 10,000 francs."

Melting Snow Is Cause of Flood

(Associated Press)
PRAGUE, April 5—A flood, caused by the sudden melting of heavy snows, has submerged villages in Eastern Slovakia. Only church steeples show above the water.

The inhabitants, assisted by troops, fought the rising waters for a week, plugging gaps in the dykes. One peasant, finding nothing at hand to stop a rushing stream, filled the gap with his body for several minutes until help arrived.

ROYAL PRINCESS IN LOVE TRIANGLE.

CROWN PRINCE LEOPOLD, PRINCESS MAFALDA, & PRINCE NICHOLAS.

The love of Prince Nicholas, son of the King and Queen of Rumania, for Princess Mafalda, second daughter of the King and Queen of Italy, threatens to influence the destinies of three nations. King Victor Emmanuel and Premier Benito Mussolini are anxious to bring about a rapprochement between Italy and Belgium through the proposed marriage of Crown Prince Leopold, of Belgium, and Princess Mafalda. But that royal little lady, having a will of her own, can't see it at all. She wants the whole world in general and papa in particular to know that she loves only Prince Nicholas, who is now a midshipman on the British cruiser Benbow, and that she will marry him, or not at all. It is even reported in Rome that she has threatened to kill herself if forced into an unwilling marriage with Leopold.

What the Press Agents Say

The local premier of the widely heralded Universal production "The Hunchback of Notre Dame" will take place at the Princess theater Monday night.

Prior to the world premier at the Astor theater in New York city officials of the corporation were reticent in discussing the plot changes made in the immortal Victor Hugo masterpiece, beyond stating that certain changes had been made to avoid offending any religious denomination.

A careful reading of the New York criticisms, however, divulges that the changes were generally endorsed and simply deleted some of the gruesome and switched the importance of some of the characters in order to make the ending more acceptable to theater goers. It is of interest to note that for the first time the critics approved changes in a masterpiece.

From all available sources of information Universal has reached the zenith with this production. Certainly no production was ever made with better ingredients of success. The producer had the story—one that is filled with action; he had the greatest of character stars, Lon Chaney; a capable director in Wallace Worsley, and unlimited funds and studio facilities not excelled anywhere in the world.

The fact that the total cost was just a trifle under a million and a half dollars gives some idea of the greatness of the production.

The noted cast in addition to Lon Chaney includes Ernest Torrence, Patsy Ruth Miller, Norman Kerry, Nigel de Brulier, Tully Marshall, Brandon Hurst, Gladys Brockwell, and 67 other featured principals, as well as some 3,500 extras.

MRS. BREWSTER HAS
SUED MISS PALMER

(Associated Press)

NEW YORK, April 5—Mrs. Eleanor Brewster, wife of Eugene Brewster, wealthy publisher of Motion Picture magazine, today filed suit in the supreme court against Miss Corliss Palmer, charging her with alienation of her husband's affections, and asking $200,000 damages.

In 1922 Mrs. Brewster began a suit for separation, maintaining that her husband had housed in his Roslyn home a screen actress. After the suit was settled out of court, Brewster took up his home on an estate at Morriston, N. J., where he was said to have installed Miss Palmer, her mother and family. He declared he would marry Miss Palmer as soon as the law permitted.

Woman's Cry Only Clue to Murderer

(Associated Press)

LOS ANGELES, April 5—Detectives investigating the slaying here last night of Mrs. Vera Stone, 29, had but one clue early today. This was the statement of Mrs. Stone's landlady that at 9:30 p. m. she had heard the woman sobbing "My God, Bill, you are killing me." She did not investigate she told police.

Shortly after 11 o'clock, Mrs. Stone's sister found the body. The woman's skull had been crushed, apparently by a hammer and bruises on her throat indicated she had been choked.

Decent Birthplace Baby's Right, Asserts U. S. Senator Copeland, Urging Effort For Better Homes

"It is the right of every baby to be born in a decent home."

This belief, generously shared by every normal man or woman, was repeated by United States Senator Royal S. Copeland, former Health Commissioner of New York City, in an address before a convention of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company's district managers.

But Senator Copeland went further in his discussion of this important subject, voicing genuine concern over the housing shortage, a situation which unless it is speedily remedied will deny to the American baby this birthright.

"In greater New York," he said,

"I found that we had a hundred thousand more families than we have houses. There were born in this city last year 137,000 babies. You put them shoulder to shoulder and they would make a line twenty-two miles long. In one square mile in New York there live 500,000 persons, and I can take you to thousands of so-called decent homes in that square mile where twelve persons live in three rooms, where four sleep in the kitchen—and in hundreds of these homes they live in inside rooms, without any light or ventilation. There can be no safety anywhere so long as there is any focus of disease anywhere, and it is the duty of every good citizen as I see it to make provisions for the decent housing of the people."

rooms of the apartments are outside rooms and instead of back yards there are yard-gardens, planted with shrubbery. Some of the apartments already are occupied and the others will be ready within a few weeks. The apartments vary in size from three to six rooms. They are centrally heated, have hot water supply and are wired for electric lights.

Baptist Campaign Has Put $4,000,000 Into Care of South's Orphan Children

Benevolent Phases of Forward Movement Are Set Out In General Statement From Headquarters—Hospitals and Ministerial Relief Greatly Extended.

A Group of Happy Homeless Boys Provided for in a Baptist Orphanage.

Of the $48,500,000 that has been collected in cash on the Baptist 75 Million Campaign to January 1, 1924, the sum of $7,732,831.53 has gone to such benevolent work as caring for orphan children, healing the sick and ministering to aged, worn-out preachers. It is announced by the headquarters of the Campaign.

$4,000,000 Went to Orphanages.
More than half of the benevolent fund, or $3,938,192.63, has gone to the 21 Baptist orphanages of the South, two of which have been established as a result of this movement and all of which have been greatly helped by this forward program. Nearly 4,000 orphan boys and girls are being housed, fed, clothed, educated and trained for Christian citizenship in these orphanages and the Campaign has put between $800,000 and $900,000 into the maintenance of these institutions each year. The orphanages are now caring for more children than their normal capacities permit, but despite this extra effort the institutions have been compelled to turn down the applications of 2,000 other orphan boys and girls, simply because there was no room for them.

Sick and Suffering Aided.
Large advance has been made in the ministry of Southern Baptists to the sick and suffering during the four years of the Campaign. At the time this movement was inaugurated Southern Baptists were operating twelve hospitals. The number now in operation has grown to 22, six others are practically completed and ready for service, while two more have been projected. At the time the Campaign began the value of Southern Baptist hospital property was $2,227,000, while today it has grown to approximately $9,000,000 among the institutions already in operation. The number of hospital beds has increased from 1,825 to 3,000.

During the four years of the Campaign a total of 170,000 patients have been treated in these hospitals. Approximately $1,000,000 worth of charity service has been performed there for needy but deserving persons.

925 Old Preachers Helped.
Into the work of ministerial relief the Campaign has put the sum of $1,440,133.31. More than $500,000 has been put into supplying the needs of aged and dependent ministers and their families. This, representing the efforts of four years, is far more than Southern Baptists had ever done for old preachers in all their history prior to the launching of this forward movement. At the same time the Relief and Annuity Board has gathered an interest-bearing endowment and sinking fund of more than $450,000, and has gathered for its annuity work an interest-bearing endowment and sinking fund of more than $1,100,000. Today 925 beneficiaries are carried on the rolls of the Relief and Annuity Board.

An effort is being made to bring the 75 Million Campaign to a successful completion during 1924. It is announced by the headquarters office, and forces are at work in every state in the territory of the Southern Baptist Convention, with a view to enlisting the churches in the immediate discharge of the task they are named in this five-year movement.

An English scientist says that ships traveling east grow lighter because they are going in the same direction as the earth is revolving. An ocean liner weighs five tons less on its journey from America to England than on its return trip.

The Jovial Man.
A "jovial" character once meant the type supposed to belong to all persons who were born when the planet Jupiter was in the ascendant. They were supposed to possess more of the cheerful elements of character than others, and hence to partake of the benign qualities attributed to the father of the gods.

OPPORTUNITY FOR SOME DE MOLAY

Grand Council Seeks to Select Outstanding Members.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., April 5.—The Grand Council Order of DeMolay has issued a call for fifty members of the order with an outstanding record of achievement and a promise of unusual leadership.

From these fifty DeMolays one will be chosen to represent DeMolay as an observer at the British Empire exposition at London, the Olympic games at Paris, and the National Boy Scout Jamboree at Copenhagen. All expenses of the young man will be paid when embarks for Europe with a party, which will leave this country June 21, 1924, under trained leadership, for a ten weeks' educational tour of Europe.

Every DeMolay in good standing will be eligible for consideration. The choice will be entirely upon the basis of merit, as evidence of ability to measure up to the high standards of young manhood in the physical, mental, social and spiritual phases of life. He must be an unusually well-balanced, well rounded out typical American young man, worthy to represent the Order, eager for the best possible education and conscientious of making the best of the opportunities he has to get it, able to express himself in public clearly and convincingly, and must be well informed on the happenings of the day, which constitute history in the making.

It will be a great honor for any DeMolay to be selected as one of the fifty most outstanding members of the order by reason of his attainments in all aspects of life. That alone will be one of the greatest distinctions that ever came to an American young man. For one of these fifty a very unusual privilege and opportunity is in store.

BUZZARDS NEARLY STARVE IN UNSPOTTED VERA CRUZ
VERA CRUZ—Vera Cruz, once the pestilence spot of the Mexican Gulf, with the buzzards constituting its only sanitary service, has in the few years since the American bombardment and occupation of the city in 1914, obliterated its unfavorable reputation of the past. Today it is among the cleanest and healthiest cities of the subtropics. Yellow fever and malaria have been reduced to a minimum, and other tropical diseases are being combatted successfully.

The buzzards that once clustered about the city in great numbers are still to be seen, but they eke out a meagre livelihood from the few scraps that gain their way to the streets. The open sewers that once ran through the centers of the thoroughfares have disappeared, and a modern sewage disposal system has been installed. During the De La Huerta occupation additional sanitary precautions were taken, and the federal occupational authorities are exhausting every means to render the city free from disease.

New York Letter

By LUCY JOHNSON PRICE

NEW YORK, April 5—Here is a blow to the vanity of the Twentieth Century which should give us a new viewpoint on ourselves and our "advancement." Dr. Henry Fairfield Osborn, president of the American Museum of Natural History, is the one who deals it to us. The much maligned cave man, he says, was as a matter of fact superior mentally to the University student of today. He could compete in any part of intellectual life. Dr. Osborn declares and would be the equal of any of the 30,000 students now enrolled at our own Columbia. It was 25,000 to 40,000 years ago that this cave-man roamed the earth, so maybe then, we can take comfort in the thought that at least we have not deteriorated rapidly. There were two types of people back then, he explains, one of a low order and the other very high and that accounts for our bad opinion of the race at that past date.

Golf and country clubs around about New York have decided to make citizenship a more serious thing with their members. So they are all agreeing that when registration and election days come around, each member will be asked at the locker room whether or not he has registered or voted, as the case may be. If he has not, why then there will be round on the links for him that day.

The past few seasons have taught us to look forward to the production of a Harvard play with keen interest. Producers used to be afraid of them; somehow it didn't sound like a commercial success. But they have learned better. So it was no surprise to discover how much fun and how excellent is "Nancy Ann," the new one of the season, in which Francine Larrimore plays the part of an orphaned girl of money and degree who runs away to make fame and fortune on the stage. It is amusingly done and Miss Larrimore is a frolicsome and piquant person as we have seen, since we saw her last.

I think Harry Armstrong has a real grievance against the government. The other day he went in the full pride of his stature and strength and applied for a position on the New York police force. He looked like a good prospective officer and all went well until he was asked for his birth certificate. He didn't have one with him but as he was born on Staten Island, it seemed easy to get. So he went out to get it. "You are a girl," said the clerk, "and you were registered under the name of Emma." Armstrong protested "foolishly; he wasn't and that was some other Armstrong he declared. But the clerk remained firm. It was there in black and white so Harry's application for the force has been held up until he can go before the legislature and get the law makers to change his name to Harry Armstrong.

It's hard to please the courts. Alphonse Chabot is wondering what a man should do when his wife orders him from home. He found Judge Callahan an unsympathetic listener when he told him his troubles. "Any man who allows his wife to turn him out of the house is not entitled to any consideration from red-blooded men," said the court. "But what would you have me do, your honor?" pressed Chabot. "Beat her up?" "Certainly not," the justice said and then paused to think. "Well, anyway, a man shouldn't let his wife turn him out of his own home. Next case." So Chabot is still wondering.

DO YOU TO AIRPLANES BECOME NEW PROFESSION IN EUROPE

LONDON—The vogue of flying in virtually all countries have been the means of creating a demand for an airplane "physician and surgeon."

This profession has been taken up by Frank Courtney, who won the King's cup airplane race here last year. He has been on the continent testing out new machines, and has now left for the Arctic circle where he will put new machines through their paces. Several other pilots are acting as consulting "surgeons" to airplane makers. When a firm finds any particular plane is not behaving quite as it should, the "doctor" is called in to spot the trouble and put it right.
